A MOVEMENT that has assumed large proportions at Frankfort is the one which has for its purpose the appropriation of $15,000 or $20,000 by the Legislature for a statue of Gov. William Goebel to be placed in the center of the rotunda of the new State Capitol building. It is argued that the handsome new pile is complete in every particular with the exception that a figure in bronze or marble would set off the rotunda, and nothing could be more fitting than thus to honor Kentucky's martyred Governor.

THE Kentucky Evening Gazette, of Lexington, which has been edited by Mr. W. P. Walton for some six months, is a thing of the past. It has not proved a money maker and the owners, a number of Fayette county democrats, decided to suspend its publication. Mr. Walton had no stock in it.

REPRESENTATIVE CREEKMORE, of the county of Whitley, will introduce a bill in the Legislature for the creation of another county to be formed from the "tail end" portions of Whitley, Pulaski and Wayne counties. Similar bills have been introduced at each Legislative session for years.

The Tobacco Tiller.

One of the most interesting pieces of fiction of recent date is the "Tobacco Tiller," by Miss Sarah Bell Hackley, from the press of the C. M. Clark Publishing Company, of Boston, and especially for Kentuckians, as the scenes are all laid in Kentucky, and the characters all Kentuckians. Owensboro plays its part in the book, therefore unusually interesting to Daviess county people.
